

ABSTRACT

Contact structures exhibiting resilience or compliance are formed. The contact structures may be formed on a sacrificial substrate. The contact structures are attached to an array of electrical connections on a substrate to form a contact assembly. The electrical connections on the substrate may be metallic pads.